I.

Flume

If you could split myself
If I could scrape yourself

———

II.

I could still see it
Something was carried away

It calls, it's carried away

Almost floating on the surface
Levitating
Plunging over and over

Freezing in the churn
The water can move at such a chill
Only body still

A river has been narrowed

———

III.

———